

A reluctant traveler engaging a relentless enemy with Eternity in the balance...

Quinn Evans thought it was only a childhood dream, not a divine decree laden with eternal purpose. Rescuing the Book of Life had to be a fantasy, a crazy vision brought on by the deep grief over losing his parents in a car crash when he and his twin sister, Tessa, were eight years old.

It disturbed him that his Granny took the dream seriously. She seemed to think it was a real calling, but Quinn was too busy with school and working on their Welsh farm to give it much thought – until he met the mysterious Shepherd when he was eighteen. Soon afterward, his life was upended. Quinn reluctantly enters the world of Quantum Spacewalking when he is invited to join a team of Universe Healers. He meets Aneera, the love of his life and a fellow Universe Healer, as the world rapidly moves into the cataclysmic events of the end of the age.

What no one else knows is that Quinn is also a Golden One. Quinn doesn't understand it himself. What he does know is that deceptive beings who call themselves Golden Ones are hunting him. Quinn has to use all the resources at his disposal to evade capture while completing the secret time-splicing missions that will prepare him to find the Book of Life.

One slip up and the eternal destiny of billions will be destroyed. Will he survive to complete his final mission? And will Aneera's and his paths ever cross again?
